In this Issue

This issue will concentrate on the so-called "Christian Identity Movement," those organizations networking with it, and one of its major propagandists, Eustace Mullins. I have already received dismayed letters from some of you who believe Eustace Mullins to be a Christian writer because he has appeared on so many Christian radio programs promoting his book, SECRETS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE. Several of those programs have taken steps to disclaim him and spokesmen for others told me Mullins plainly lied to them, making it appear as though he were a great friend of the Jewish Community, when in fact he has written and continues to write some of the ugliest propaganda ever penned against them. One Canadian gentleman wrote me, distressed that I would be doing a newsletter about Eustace Mullins. He told me that the Lord himself led him to Eustace Mullins book, THE WORLD ORDER. Still others would protest that Eustace Mullins is "conservative." Even that "fact" is in dispute in light of Mullins' writings such as the following:

"We have not realized that the doctrine of Communism, or a more communal society, was a harbinger of the approach of the Aquarian Age. (Mullins openly favors the "Aquarian Age.") However, once it was seized upon by Karl Marx, and became influenced by the warped mind of the Jew, it became another instrument of the Devil, no one could longer understand what it had meant ... Twenty years ago, this writer was already leading an Aquarian existence in New York, in which people were allowed to come in, to share what food and lodging there was, without any demands made or expectation of payment, and many others were living this way, in what was termed a 'beatnik' mode, and much later, the 'hippie' mode." <Eustace Mullins, MY LIFE IN CHRIST (Staunton, Virginia: Faith and Service Books, Aryan League of America, 1968), pages 31-32.>

As James Webb, the now-deceased Cambridge scholar who brilliantly wrote about occult incursions into modern society said:

"It should be a truism that there has always been a strong current of political anti-Semitism flowing from the

The truth is that THE WORLD ORDER by Eustace Mullins is an unabashed attack on the present world order. Although some details of occultic operations such as the Tavistock Institute are given, it appears clear to me from Mullins' writings that he can only know of these from within -- or be a naive victim of extreme deception himself. From Mullins writings and our telephone conversations, I would judge that naivete' is not one of his major characteristics! Furthermore, Eustace Mullins cheerfully told me on one of the three telephone conversations we held that he fervently desired a "New World Order." Those believing they were directed to him by God should consider his deceptively entitled book, MY LIFE IN CHRIST. There he detailed how he had lived the Aquarian lifestyle in New York since 1948. He further theologized that "Christ did not suffer" on the cross! According to Mullins, "Christ Power" comes about when:

"we direct our radiance to Christ, and it is returned to us magnified a hundredfold. This is the beginning of the process, as the radiance is beamed back and forth between us and Christ in an accelerating ratio. It is magnified each time, but slowly and carefully, otherwise the sudden increase in our energy would destroy us and we would vanish in an instant."

Needless to say, this is hardly orthodox Christian theology. What it is is classical occultism of the type generally possessed (in more ways than one!) by only the highest of initiates. This becomes doubly astounding in view of the fact that Eustace Mullins disarmingly told me that he had never had any contact with occultism in his entire life.

At all times, one must remember the strategy of the New Age Movement as articulated by Peter LeMesurier in THE ARMAGEDDON SCRIPT. It is to infiltrate all religious groups and then to pit the remaining orthodox off against the remaining orthodox of the other groups. Mullins' role is obviously to pit orthodox Christians against orthodox Jews. He has done his job well. This newsletter and a forthcoming book I am co-authoring, THE EZRA POUND CONNECTION, will show just how well Christians and political conservatives have accepted the work of life-long Theosophist Ezra Pound and his protegee' Eustace Mullins.

The Ezra Pound Connection

I had been looking at Ezra Pound deeply for quite some time as being the "missing link" between the Theosophists, the Fabian Socialists, the A. R. Orage Gurdjieffian circles, the Bollingen Foundation, and hard-core Nazism and Facism. In A PLANNED DECEPTION, on page 22 I said "at any rate, the 40's and 1950's saw public debate rage over the Bollingen Foundation and its alleged Nazi ties. Ironically, Norman Cousins, and his SATURDAY REVIEW, asked Congress to investigate it. ..." That debate to which I referred was over the Ezra Pound treason charges and his Bollingen support. Never having read the numerous copies of SECRETS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE which had been sent to me, I had no reason to suspect that Pound's influence even ranged into circles which openly supported me. I was in Dallas speaking at a conference arranged by Dallas activist Jean Coyle, an amazing lady who has done much to alert people to the abuse of child abuse laws. While there I recognized a literature table independently run which contained much of what I recognized as Identity Movement literature. There was a book entitled "CHRIST WAS NOT A JEW." I perused it with great interest knowing that the Nazis had openly circulated this type of propaganda prior to World War II. The genial man running the booth sincerely told me it was a good book. I said, "I don't know, it looks like the kind of propaganda the Nazis were circulating." The man said, "oh no, it couldn't be. Why this book was first published in 1936." Horrifiedly, I said, "that probably proves it is what the Nazis were circulating before the war." I bought the book for research purposes only. I probably would not have made an example of the deluded book seller who was undoubtedly somebody's wonderful grandfather, but for the fact that I overheard him telling other people who were viewing it with equal scepticism that "that's a good book."

After all, Constance Cumbeys just bought a copy." After I detailed the problems of that book to my Dallas audience, an impeccably dressed man into off-shore Bahamian investments stood up and quizzed me as to why I had not addressed the issue of the international banking conspiracy which in his mind was the "real conspiracy." I told him my major in college had been law -- not economics, and with good reason. I was terrified of math! When he persisted in his questioning I added that most of the literature I had observed in the area with the exception of my friend Gary North's -- whose economics I find brilliant and his post-millennial theology somewhat less agreeable -- was so badly tainted by antisemitism as to be absolutely unreliable. Afterwards he offered to sell me some books from his table to educate me on the issue. I suppressed a fleeting belief that the real reason I had been invited to speak was to make the event profitable for all the other booksellers! He proudly handed me a copy of SECRETS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE by Eustace Mullins. I told him, thanks, but I had a copy. He then handed me THE WORLD ORDER by Eustace Mullins. I glanced through it and said, "why this looks like an attack on the present world order and a call for a New Age!" While he was telling me why I was wrong, I glanced down at the title page and saw that the book was published under the auspices of "THE EZRA POUND INSTITUTE OF CIVILIZATION, P.O. Box 1105, Staunton, VA 24401."

"Ezra Pound!" I exclaimed. "What do you know about Ezra Pound?" "He was held without bail or writ of habeas corpus for 13 years, the government said he was crazy when he wasn't and they refused to give him a trial," replied the book-vendor friend of Eustace Mullins. "Uh, that isn't exactly what happened," I said, giving him a run-down of my months of extensive research on Ezra Pound. I bought several books and video and audio tapes of Mullins, not knowing that they were all to contain extensive discussions of Ezra Pound before tax-revolt groups. I heard on one to my utter amazement that "Ezra Pound was one of the earliest patriots." I observed on Mullins' tapes and books that everything was reversed. Anybody for Germany in World War II was a "patriot." Anybody against Germany was a "subversive." Anybody promoting anti-semitism was a patriot. Anybody fighting it was a "hate group." On page 12 of A WRIT FOR MARTYRS (Mullins, 1985) was the "smoking gun" I had been looking for connecting Pound's activities to Theosophy:

"Under the arcane rules of federal employment, I had the right to request that Evans postpone my dismissal until I had the chance to personally discuss the charges with him. ... He asked me if I wrote for The Social Creditor. I replied that I did, but the articles were on economic matters, and had no implication for any political party. He then asked me if I had used the letterhead, Aryan League of America, the second damning charge which the hate group had dredged up against me. I said that I did, explaining that it referred to a religious group in India, the Aryan Path, with whom Ezra Pound had been in correspondence."

Mine was one of the few heads that passage would not go over. The Aryan Path was the Theosophical Society at their international headquarters in India!

The Social Credit Movement

"And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name." Revelation 13:16-17 (KJV)

The greatest irony to me since discovering Eustace Mullins' extreme occultism is that those often most susceptible to his propaganda are those literally interpreting the above passage. I too believe it has a literal interpretation. But, the literal interpretation will most likely come from a system Eustace Mullins openly advocates as one that can replace the present world order -- by abolishing of our present monetary system and its replacement by a new cashless system. Proponents of the cashless society have been around for many years. Their movement has had a name -- The Social Credit Movement. Popular in large segments of Canada, touted as a solution to the distressed farmers on the American plains, that Movement received its start at the hands of dedicated theosophists and other occultic interests. It also received a boost from those who believed they would institute the Kingdom of God on Earth. Eustace Mullins was the American correspondent for THE SOCIAL CREDITOR, the British-based magazine of the Social Credit Movement!

Alice Bailey set forth some steps that would be taken by "the Christ" and his "Masters of Wisdom" at the time of the "externalization of the hierarchy."

"For instance there are adepts who are authorities upon modern financial matters, and those initiates of the fourth degree are competently preparing to institute later those newer techniques and modes of financial interplay which will supersede the present disastrous methods; they will inaugurate a system of barter and exchange of which modern money is the travestied symbol. This newer method of financial relationships will be comprehensively human and it will supersede big business and private enterprise. It will at the same time, however, retain those phases of modern enterprise which will draw out the initiative and the resourcefulness of the individual."

 <Alice Ann Bailey (1880-1949), THE EXTERNALISATION OF THE HIERARCHY (New York: Lucis Publishing Company, 1957), pages 570-571>

Mullins' occultism

I telephoned Eustace Mullins for a second time on Friday, July 11, 1986. At that time he told me that Ezra Pound had never had any occult involvement whatsoever in his entire life. I then pointedly asked Mullins if he himself had ever had any occult involvement. His answer was "No. I never had, I have always been a Christian." The next day I had the opportunity to review Mullins' book, THAT DIFFICULT INDIVIDUAL EZRA POUND. I now knew why Mullins' had told me that book was unavailable. It had much information on Mullins' own ties with the Bollingen people and his own occult mindset and practices. For example, on pages 304-305, Mullins related the following anecdote:

"One afternoon, Rex brought along another friend of his, a Panamanian palmist. ... I had hoped that Ezra would let this dark little man, who was nearly blind, tell his fortune, but he would not. I HAD PRACTICED PALMISTRY MYSELF, BUT I HAD NEVER BEEN ABLE TO GRAB EZRA'S PAW AND SEE WHAT WAS WRITTEN THERE."

That Difficult Individual Ezra Pound

I have held three long-distance conversations with Eustace Mullins. He is initially, charmingly disarming. He professed ignorance to me about his mentor's (Ezra Pound) theosophical beliefs and connections. I asked him about the availability of his biography on Pound. He told me it had been out of print for many years and there were absolutely no copies available. This was not true and Mullins knew it. The book is regularly distributed through close friends of Mullins and is listed in many book lists in Identity and white supremacy movement newspapers. I had little trouble in obtaining a copy within days of Mullins' claim to me that there were no copies available anywhere. I do not blame Mullins, however, for not wanting me to see that book. It is full of distortions and disinformation on Ezra Pound -- a man I had been looking at for over a year as being the "missing link" between the Lucis Trust, Gurdjieffian, Theosophical occultists and hard-core Nazism and Facism. That book also contains much detailed information on Mullins' own occult connections -- connections he denied he ever had.

Pound's "Insanity"

Mullins' tells his lecture audiences that the government claimed Pound was insane when he was not. It is true that Pound was never tried for treason because a Washington, D. C. jury found him incompetent by reason of insanity. However, this defense was advanced by Pound's friends and attorneys, not by the government. Further, it was done so with Pound's approval and active cooperation.

Pound was fortunate enough to receive the concurrence of Dr. Winfred Overholser, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in this diagnosis. This was because Dr. Overholser admired Pound's poetry and considered him to be a national treasure worth saving. The crime Pound was charged with was punishable by death. Americans had little or no sense of humour about the radio broadcasts made on behalf of the enemy by Pound. Over 400,000 Americans had died in that war and another 600,000 were wounded. It was doubly fortunate for Pound that Dr. Overholser was serving as secretary-treasurer of the American Psychiatric Association. This gave him enormous stature within the psychiatric profession and no doctor in the field would dare venture a contrary opinion. Dr. Overholser was regarded as one of America's foremost experts on the legal aspects of psychiatry.<1> For more information on this, I recommend Dr. E. Fuller Torrey's superb book on the mental history of Ezra Pound, THE ROOTS OF TREASON: EZRA POUND AND THE SECRET OF ST. ELIZABETH'S. The full citation is given in the notes to this article.

Mullins on Jesus

During our telephone conversation on Saturday, July 12th, 1986, after confronting Mullins with some of the obviously occultic writings, I asked him exactly what he did believe about Jesus' ancestry.

Mullins told me he believed Jesus was a blonde, blue-eyed Galilean and not of Jewish ancestry. That pales by comparison, however, in light of what Mullins wrote about Jesus Christ:

"Throughout the world, Christians celebrate Christ on the Cross, the Crucified Christ, the Defeated Christ, the Suffering Christ. Now know this -- Christ did not suffer. Because man lives in Hell, and knows only suffering, he supposes that Christ suffered great agonies on the Cross. But Christ's only agony on the Cross, the Passion of Jesus Christ, was that He had not reached man, that the Stone Age Jews had prevailed for Satan. There was no physical suffering."

Mullins, of course, says that this image of a suffering Christ was perpetrated by Jewish scoundrels:

"To this day, the Jews have seen to it that the most widely encountered representation of Christ is that of Christ nailed to the Cross, and, presumably, enduring great suffering. Now, why have the Jews insisted upon this representation of Christ? To put the fear of the Jews into all men, as the Persians had fear of the Jews after Esther had persuaded King Ahasuerus to slaughter his gentile subjects for the benefit of the Jews..."

In his SECRET HOLOCAUST, Mullins', primer for the Identity Movement, Neo-Nazi organization, Aryan nations, Mullins explained that Queen Esther was a Jewish prostitute."

The New Testament says that to those who perish the teaching of the cross is foolishness. Listen to what Mullins says about that!

"The image of Christ on the Cross persuades men that those who oppose the Jews will die in great agony after undergoing merciless tortures and seeing their families slain before their eyes as the vengeance of the Jews was wreaked on Haman. And this image of Christ has served the Jews well, because it has convinced gentiles that they must live in slavery to the Jews and in bondage to Satan, without knowing Christ. But to those who know Christ, the image of the Defeated Christ, the Crucified Christ, the suffering Christ, has no validity, for the first thing that one learns, in knowing Christ, is that Christ did not suffer. And, knowing that Christ did not suffer, one learns that one will never know suffering again."

Needless to say, this is a very different Christ with a very different gospel. As regards Mullins' and his distorted presentation of both Jesus and his Jewish ancestors, we should take the apostle Paul's advice and let him be accursed (anathema).

Delightful Inconsistencies!

"Pound's greatest danger in 1944 was not the possibility of arrest by the United States armed forces, but the possibility of execution either at the hands of the Gestapo or of Communist partisans. He had shielded a number of Jews from the Nazi exterminators, several of them Jewish musicians whom he had hired to play at the Rapallo concerts during the 1930s. The death penalty was automatically incurred for hiding Jews."

"A rabbi who had fled the Nazi terror in Budapest also came, seeking aid, and Pound sheltered him for three

"That holocausts, or mass murders by fire, occurred during World War II was a matter of historical record. There existed photographs of stacks of burned corpses, which had been made in Cologne, Hamburg, and Dresden after the mass fire-bombing of those cities by Allied aircraft. The problem the Jews faced was that there had been no holocausts of Jewish victims during World War II, nor were there any photographs of burned Jewish bodies. Not to worry -- the Jews simply appropriated the photographs of the bodies of their German victims, which are exhibited today in gruesome 'museums' in Germany as exhibits of dead Jews.

"It was a matter of record that the Jews had actually done quite well during World War II. In Germany, incredible sagas of bribery and corruption on the home front had secured the mass evacuation of all Jews from German cities just before the fire bombings began. When entire German families perished amid scenes of unspeakable horror, the Jews were safely exconced (sic) in comfortable quarters in such refugee camps as Auschwitz. ... They realized several decades later that it was necessary for their purposes to claim that they had been 'exterminated.' The protection camps in which they had been safely segregated by the Germans during World War II now became 'death camps'. ..."<2>
